Fair Board Elect Officers

HAVE GOOD BALANCE ON HAND FROM LAST EXHIBIT

The Board of Directors of the Charlevoix County Agricultural Society met last Thursday evening, at East Jordan. At this meeting the following officers were elected: President, Claude Pearsall; First Vice-President, Jesse Smith; Second Vice-President, Geo. Haggard; Treasurer, C. W. Bowman; Marshall, Mike Barnett; and Secretary, Ed Rebman, County Agricultural Agent.

The 1948 Fair proved to be a successful one. About 600 exhibits were displayed during the four days of the Fair. A financial report shows a net income - after all the expenses have been taken - of slightly more than $400.00 - in addition to this amount the Charlevoix Couty Board of Supervisors appropriated $2,000 for permanent inprovement.

Plans for the 1949 Fair are now being made. It is hoped by the Board that the number of exhibits will be doubled - if not tripled. It is expected that there will again be an excellent Carnival.

Members from other Units present were from Mancelona, Charlevoix, Petoskey and Ellsworth.

It was a very interesting meeting and those who were present, will have a clearer conception of the importance of the different phases of the Auxiliary.

Light refreshments were served by the Rebec-Sweet Post Auxiliary, No. 227, after the meeting.

"Who's Following Who Going South"

Where do some redhead ducks come from? A few days after banding one of these redheads in the marshes of Manitoba, Art Hawkins, federal flyway biologist, found the identical band staring him in the face last week when he visited the game division offices of the conservation department here. Hawkins, a U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service worker, follows migrating waterfowl in their annual movements north and south.

On the desk of Herbert Miller, department duck specialist, was this same band which was turned in by hunter Joseph Adams of Flint. Adams had shot the tagged bird Oct. 24 in Sebewaing Bay.
banded as a young bird on Sept. 17 and had evidently traveled to Michigan on the eastern edge of the Mississippi flyway. This flyway route, he explained, is one of the sky paths used by ducks in their seasonal migrations.

Hawkins' final comment: "Who's following who going south?"

FARM FACTS from your County Agricultural Agent

COW CLIPPING IS SANITARY MEASURE

With cold weather approaching and pastures gone, dairy cows are spending more and more of the time in the barns. When cows are stabled, a useful step in clean milk production is to clip the animals where dirt, chaff and manure collect.

Regular clipping of the udder and hind quarters will prevent accumulation of foreign material above the milk pail or teat cups The clipping makes these parts easier to clean and will result in less sediment in milk. For information on "How to Clip Cows" write or see your County Agent.

SAWDUST ON CLAY LOAM SOILS

The soil science department at Michigan State college has received a number of questions concerning mixing sawdust with clay loam soils. Here are some of the answers Dr. Lloyd Turk of the department says first that mixing sawdust with clay loam soils should do much to improve their physical condition. Experiments at the college thus far have not resulted in souring of the soil. No poisonous or toxic materials have been found in sawdust to interfere with plant growth. Dr. Turk warns that the sawdust does not supply much nitrogen and may draw so much from the soil that crops will suffer from lack of nitrogen. Therefore, it's often necessary to add sufficient nitrogen to keep from depleting the soil of this element.

RAT CONTROL IS CONTINUING JOB

There's scarcely a farm that isn't troubled by rats at some time. But when you see rats frequently around the place, you can be sure you're in for trouble.

If you'll make it hard for rats to find food, they can be easily poisoned or trapped. Feeds should be stored properly and scraps and garbage kept in ratproof containers.

Ratproof buildings are a good measure to keep rats away once you've rid the farm of them. Putting metal shields around building supports and protect sides of cribs with metal stripping are two good steps. Keep scrap lumber piles away from cribs since they attract rats and provide a shelter for them.

"Big Four" of Oddfellow Lodges Contribute $50.00

The four Oddfellow Lodges of Charlevoix County, known as the "Big Four" and consisting of Boyne City, Charlevoix, East Jordan and Maple Grove, met with Maple Grove Thursday night, Nov. 4th, in one of their periodical get-to-gethers. There were eighty members present. Apart from the routine business the hat was passed and $50.00 contributed to the Charlevoix County Community Chest.

Gaylord P.C.A. Stockholders Elect Two Directors

The fourteenth annual meeting of the stockholders of the Gaylord Production Credit Association was held at the V. F. W. Hall on Nov. 5th. Stockholders from the ten northern counties attended this meeting.

Mr. Geo. Susens, President of the Production Credit Corporation of St. Paul, spoke to the members. He brought the fine financial position of the association and explained the importance of the farmers' owning their own Production Credit Association.

Mr. Bernard Hubbard, fieldman of the Production Credit Corporation, and son of Robert Hubbard of Alba, spoke a few words recalling the changes in agriculture since the organization of the association 15 yrs. ago.

The most important event of the meeting was the election of two directors—Ed Hartung of Levering and Albert Kassuba of Gaylord. These directors were elected for a term of three years.

Other business of the day consisted of reports by the President, Arnold W. Ostrander and A. J. Townsend, Secretary-Treasurer. Excellent entertainment was furnished by Earle Parchman of Williamston.

A very nice lunch was served at noon by the V. F. W. Ladies Auxiliary and prizes were awarded during the meeting.

BUY ALFALFA SEED NOW

With crop reports showing that the production of alfalfa seed in the United States is far below average this year, County Agricultural Agent, Walter G. Kirkpatrick, advises farmers to order seed now and accept seed delivery as soon as possible.

Waiting until next spring to order gives local seedmen very little chance to secure the type of seed desired. Seed that is adapted to Michigan conditions is the best kind to secure. Seed should be secured adapted to Michigan conditions as follows:

1. Michigan grown seed.
2. Canadian variegated or Canadian grown seed.
3. Seed from any of the Northern States.
4. Seed from the Central United States.

Though the latter seed is in short supply, it is considered usable for Michigan conditions when seed from the first three sources is unavailable.

When buying seed, check the label on the bag to insure getting adapted seed of good purity and germination.

Red clover is more plentiful than alfalfa but it too should be ordered early. An unprecedented amount of Red Clover Seed was harvested in Antrim County this fall along with some alfalfa. Seed that will go a peck per acre will pay for itself in harvesting.

THREE CHRISTMAS WORKSHOPS

Three Christmas workshops will be presented in Antrim County by the Home Demonstration Agent, Mrs. Virginia Vance.

Comfort, Beauty Go Hand in Hand In Good Lighting

How good is your lighting? Darkness comes early these days and when you flip on the switches what kind of results do you get?

There are two important factors in home lighting. One is comfort and the other is decorative quality. Since the two go hand in hand, Mildred Wilson, Michigan State college home economist, discusses both together.

Comfort is concerned with the amount, the distribution and the quality of light. Good lighting means good health. It has no glare and no shadow. The amount of light will vary with the people in the room, the type of work they are doing and the length of time they will spend at the work.

When you're sewing, studying, reading or writing you need local illumination. For the room itself there should be general illumination. These needs are filled through the use of direct and indirect lighting.

Paint on the wall can influence the effectiveness of light. Glossy finishes will glare and flat finishes are more pleasing since they produce less glare. Color makes a difference too. Light colors reflect more light than dark ones do. The woods make a difference mahogany reflects only 12 percent while maple reflects 43 percent.

For decorative effects good general lighting will make the room one while local lights create contrasts and place emphasis on parts of the room. Soft subdued light creates a mood of hospitality and initimacy. Direct light with contrasts of light and dark creates a gay and vivacious mood. Cove lighting spells sophistication, richness and a modern feeling.

This year's Seal features a small blond-haired boy in red flannel pajamas, sitting on the floor, hands clasped about his knees, and gazing into a blazing fireplace over which three empty stockings hang.

Michigan Bell To Offer Better Types of Service

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. proposes to offer better types of service at attractive rates to areas, formerly rural in character but now grown into substantial residential developments, in more than 100 of its exchanges, including East Jordan.

C. L. Johnson, manager for the company, said an application containing the proposal will be filed with the Michigan Public Service Commission Dec. 15. The company proposes to extend the base-rate area here to include the following territory in which there are 15 telephone users:

An area of one-quarter square mile on the western shore of Lake Charlevoix immediately north of present base rate area boundry. It is a summer resort catering to tourists.

The proposal would eliminate rural service in the territory to be added when facilities become available, Johnson said. Instead, users would be offered urban-type services. The change would not increase rates for rural residence users but would involve somewhat higher charges for rural business users.

Users of urban-type service would no longer pay exchange-line mileage charges.

When Storing Your Deer, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter —

The successful deer hunter, returning with his kill, as the bow-and-arrow hunter has been doing, will be thinking of locker plants in which to store his game. Miles A. Nelson, Chief of the Bureau of Marketing and Enforcement, Michigan Department of Agriculture, advises that under the provisions of the State Locker Plant Regulations, "the storage of hides and skins is prohibited. unless separate storage rooms with no open passages leading into the locker room, chill room, aging room, or sharp freeze room are provided for this purpose."

Briefly, deer with hides or skins on, constitute "Hides" or "Skins" as referred to in the Regulation, and must be stored in a separate room from other meat or food products at Food Locker Plants.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Lansing — Kim Sigler, Michigan's ex-cowboy governor, now a one-termer!

Elected two years ago in a reform crusade upset, sparked by grand jury revelations of Lansing legislature graft, the colorful Kim Sigler will now be succeeded on Jan. 1 by a 37-yr. old vetern of World War II, another political amateur, a man whom the governor casually selected to serve as a Democratic member of the liquor commission.

This capital city is still catching its breath. Despite rising opposition to Sigler, largely from within the Republican party, the forecasted Dewey landslide had been counted on by state officials to afford a safe margin for Sigler.

What happened then?

Since Dewey and Ferguson carried Michigan and since a Republican legislature was elected, it has become painfully obvious that many persons who voted for Republican candidates did NOT vote for Sigler. This cannot be accounted for on the basis of persons who had been offended by Sigler during his grand jury days. Nor can it be justified by a conclusion that the people did not approve of his ideas for streamlining government. The results of the same election show that several Sigler-sponsored changes were given majority approval: A constitutional convention and better salaries for state officials and legislators by removal of constitutional limitations. True, repeal of the sales tax diversion amendment was emphatically rejected, but Sigler had given up any hope of getting repeal approved at this time.

As we see it, the election of G. Mennon Williams was not a mandate for this-and-that in the way of social reform. It was the indirect outcome of a "protest" registered by Republicans, for the most part, who had come to the conclusion that another change was needed at Lansing! Why did they arrive at this judgment after only two years?

We recall a remark made by Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., one of the original Sigler men at Lansing. Alger came to the capital city imbued with great ideals, as voiced by Sigler during the campaign. Here was an opportunity for great public service of the highest order.

Did Alger get an opportunity to become a member of an administrative team, as Harry Kelly had successfully developed during his four-year incumbency as governor? The answer is no. Sigler failed in this respect to effect a working partnership with his own state officials and with the legislature. This failure was costly. Alger is remaining at Lansing. Sigler is not.

There oughta be a course in school that teaches people to read the handwriting on the wall.

You got to expect some poor fruit on every family tree.

No crowd ever went in one direction very long.

Horse Laugh

ONE evening Jones was discovered by Brown trying to push a horse on to his doorstep.

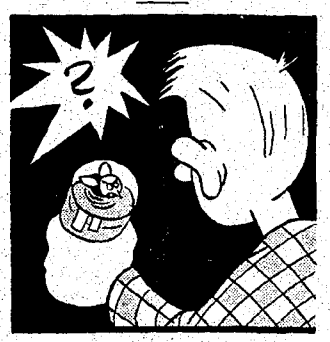

"I say, old man, do give me a hand," he pleaded, and Brown, wondering, did so. "Now," continued Jones, "let's get him up the stairs and into the bathroom."

After a lot of struggling, they got the horse safely installed, and Jones closed the door on him.

"What's all this about?" asked Brown, puzzled.

"I'll tell you," said Jones. "I've got a brother-in-law living with me and he knows everything. When he goes in the bathroom tomorrow morning he'll shout down: 'Hey, there's a horse in the bathroom,' and for the first time I'll be able to shout back: 'Yes, I know!' "

THEY ADD ZEST

Inspector: "Do you folks around here have much trouble with insects getting in your corn?"

"We sure do," said the native, "but we jes' fishes 'em out and drinks it anyhow."

An Old Compliment

Hubby: "You look like Venus this morning, honey."

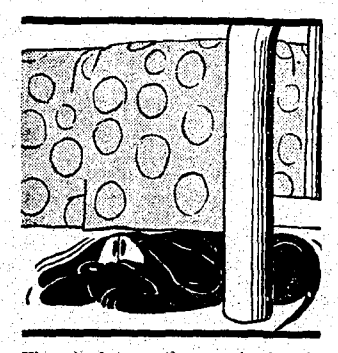

Wife: "Do you really think so?"

Hubby: "Yeah. You look about three thousand years old."

Shrimps for A Shrimp

"Tell me what you eat, and I'll tell you what you are," said a lunch-counter philosopher. Whereupon a meek little man, sitting a few stools away, called to the waitress: "Cancel my order for shrimp salad, please."

CAUTIOUS WATCHDOG

They had recently acquired a dog and were demonstrating his good points to a visitor.

"Mind you," said the man of the house, "I know he's not what you would call a thoroughbred, but no tramp or burglar can come near the house without his letting us know about it."

"What does he do?" asked the visitor. "Bark the place down?"

"Well, no—he crawls under the bed."

Needless Advice

Two men left a banquet together after dining too well.

"When you get home," advised one, "if you don't want to disturb your family, undress at the foot of the stairs, fold your clothes neatly and creep up to bed. It's the undressing in your room that awakens the wife."

Next day they met at lunch. "How did you get along?" asked one.

"No good," said the other. "I took off all my clothes at the foot of the stairs, as you told me and folded them neatly. I didn't make a sound. But when I got to the top of the stairs, I found it was my neighbor's house!"

A Hot Retort

The chorus girl was telling the others about her birthday party.

"You should have seen the cake," she said. "It was divine. There were 17 candles on it—one for each year."

There was a disbelieving silence for a moment or two, then her best friend smiled.

"Seventeen candles, eh?" she purred. "What did you do—burn them at both ends?"

Two New Hybrid Tea Roses Win Jury's Coveted Title

Forty-niner and Tallyho, two new hybrid tea roses, have won the National Rose Jury's coveted title, "All-America Rose Selection for 1949."

Both roses competed with the best new varieties of the nation's leading rose growers during two-year trials in 18 official test gardens.

Judged on the qualities of the ideal rose, Forty-niner and Tallyho achieved near perfect scores and demonstrated that they could flourish in any part of the country.

Forty-niner is probably the most brilliantly hued bi-colored rose ever introduced. Its outstanding feature is the color of its petals—a rich yellow outside which contrasts and yet harmonizes with a vivid red inside.

The yellow color is most evident in the bud which is a chrome yellow, sometimes overlaid with pink. This changes to straw yellow in the open bloom. The inside surface of the petals is an orient red which turns cherry red as the blossom ages.

Tallyho, also bi-colored, has an unusual tint that is entirely new to roses. Its coloring varies according to the weather and planting location.

While the outside of the petals fluctuates from crimson to cardinal red, its inside surface exhibits several shades of pink including Tyrian rose, China rose, phlox pink and neyron rose.

A bargin is a good buy. A goodbye is a farewell.A farewell is to part. To part is to leave. My girl left me without a good-bye. She was no bargin anyway.

It all depends on what the Mrs. is to verify the statement that blonds are no dumber than brunettes.

Voices of God

Lesson for November 14, 1948

"WHAT became of our lost mules?" That is the kind of question which prophets once upon a time were expected to answer (I Samuel 9:1-10). Some people still have this notion about prophets in the Bible, as if they had been gypsy fortune-tellers, tea-leaf readers or astrologers. They were nothing of the sort. It is not possible to open the Bible to the books of the prophets and read history-in-advance, finding out when the next war is coming and when the end of the world is scheduled.

Dr. Foreman

If we could really use the prophets of the Bible in this way, then any reader of these books could write history accurately in advance; but no one has done this yet.

* * *

Hired Man and Aristocrat

THE genuine prophets, whose writings make up so much of the Bible, are something far loftier than mere fortune-tellers. They are authentic voices of God. Because of the way they spoke, the timeless truth of what they said, they are God's spokesmen to our own times as well as to their own, and to all times.

The Bible prophets were not "professionals." They had no churches to support them. No regular meetings were arranged for them. You never would have read in the Jerusalem Journal, if there had been such a newspaper, that the Rev. Dr. Isaiah would preach at the temple at 11 a. m. and there would be special music. Few ever knew when or where a prophet might speak.

No one knew beforehand where a prophet might come from. Amos, for example, was a hired man from a sheep-ranch. Micah was a small-town preacher. Isaiah was a highly cultured citizen of the capital, intimate with all the important people. Ezekiel was a trained priest, loving ritual and pageantry. Jeremiah was a lonely, hunted man, living often in jails. Daniel was a member of a king's council, wealthy and famous.

They were all kinds of men, these prophets, but one and all, they were God's voices, pleading, warning, teaching all who would hear.

* * *

Their Times and Ours

HUMAN nature is always much the same. One man alone, or one man with another man, or a man with a woman, or a man in a crowd—in the Eighth century before Christ when Amos preached, or now in the 20th century after Christ, the same sort of situation brings out the same temptations, the same sins. The prophets often sound quite modern, but that is only because the human race is so old-fashioned.

The prophets looked about them and saw a world much like our own. They saw people spending more than they could afford; they saw wealthy women dressing in competition with one another while poorer women starved; they saw crowds of business men attending religious services on Sabbath mornings and spending the rest of the Sabbath figuring out how to cheat their customers on Monday.

The prophets lived in evil times and they brought the judgment of God to such times—then, now and always.

* * *

Sins of Society

IN AN American town there was a lynching one Saturday night. The next morning there were four sermons in the four little churches of the town; but not one of the preachers had a word to say about that lynching or any lynching or about the causes that produce such crimes.

The prophets never would have missed an opportunity like that. They were not afraid to speak out, even when they had the whole community against them.

* * *

What Does God Require?

IT IS easier to say "Don't" than "Do." It is easier to criticize than to construct. But the prophets did not stop with warnings. They have given us a pattern for living, which Micah summed up in those matchless, inspired words: "What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

Everything that is good, in public life or in private, is included in those 22 words.

Russ Reject U. N. Berlin Proposal; Stalin Hits Three Western Powers As Attempting to Start a New War

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

DIFFERENT COAL STRIKE . . . French troops in battle array march into the Villiers mine in the St. Etienne area of France as the government seized strike-bound coal mines throughout northern France. Vicious rioting and assorted civil battles preceded the government's action in taking over the mines.

REJECTION:
U. N. Proposal

Russia wouldn't play ball with the United Nations on the settlement of the Berlin dispute.

A six-power "face-saving" resolution for solving the crisis was presented to the U. N. security council and promptly batted down by the Soviets—to the surprise of no one concerned.

THE RESOLUTION proposed that Russia lift the Berlin blockade immediately; that the four military governors of Germany begin immediate negotiations to implement the Moscow agreement of August 30 for a Soviet-backed, four-power controlled mark in Berlin by November 20, and that a foreign ministers' council be convened within 10 days thereafter to take up other serious differences over Germany.

Russia's stated objection to the resolution was that it provided for the lifting of the blockade before the currency control went into effect.

Previously, the western powers had turned down Andrei Vishinsky's counter proposal for simultaneous lifting of the blockade and putting into effect the currency agreement.

IN REALITY, this point of difference upon which the latest deadlock centered was a minor one, but it served to illustrate the vast gap that must be closed before a meeting of minds between the East and West can be achieved.

MOREOVER, it has become increasingly clear that Moscow does not even have any desire to lift the blockade. It is, for them, too good a weapon with which to attempt to bludgeon the U. S. and the West into granting them further concessions in Germany, including a voice in the operation of the all-valuable Ruhr industrial area.

STALIN TALKS:
'Horrors'

In what is probably the most amazing outburst he has made since the war, Soviet Premier Josef Stalin told the world that the U. S., Great Britain and France are seeking a new war through a "policy of aggression."

The accusation, despite the high level of its source, amounted to nothing more than a repetition of the already stereotyped Russian practice of attempting to turn an opponent's reasoning back on him.

HOWEVER, he added, the "public forces favoring peace" are too strong to permit "the instigators of a new war" to plunge the world again into the "horrors" of conflict.

Stalin named Winston Churchill as "the main instigator of a new war" and predicted that Churchill's "pupils of aggression" would be rejected by the people just as Churchill has been.

Although he did not label President Truman or any other leader as a "pupil in aggression," the implication was too clear to be mistaken, particularly since the Moscow radio had broadcast a prediction that Mr. Truman would be defeated on November 2.

STALIN accused the U. S. and Britain of twice rejecting settlements of the Berlin crisis with Russia and said that debate on the Berlin question in the U. N. security council "was a display of aggression on the part of Anglo-American and French ruling circles."

The British and Americans, the Soviet premier said, declared "null and void" an agreement reached in the Kremlin conferences August 30 that would have lifted the Soviet blockade and ended the crisis.

HE CHARGED that the western powers fear "most of all" to reach any agreement with the Soviet Union.

"What they want is not agreement and cooperation, but talk about agreement and cooperation, so as to put the blame on the U. S. S. R. by preventing agreement, and to 'prove' that cooperation is impossible."

Stalin's statement obviously was issued as a high-powered propaganda stroke—a move the Russians undoubtedly hoped would tip the Berlin scales in their favor.

Old-Fashioned, but . . .

Toothaches are old-fashioned. That is the opinion of Dr. John C. Brauer of the University of Washington school of dentistry, a leading authority on children's dentistry and care of the teeth.

Dr. Brauer said few children would experience dental pain during their lives if they practiced preventive measures now known to dental science. Most older people are doomed because of their past habits.

Headliners

IN YORK, Pa. . . . Mrs. Walter Sechrist made a wide-eyed announcement that her gas range picks up short wave transmissions made by her next-door neighbor, an amateur radio operator, vowed it had broadcast a conversation between the neighbor and another operator in South America.

IN SALEM, Mass. . . . Robert C. Carter claimed in a divorce suit that his wife had deserted him a block from the church just two minutes after they were married in 1944.

IN HAGERSTOWN, Mo. . . . Thieves broke into the Potomac Edison building, got away with a specially equipped camera set up to take pictures of thieves breaking into the Potomac Edison building.

IN LITTLE BRICKHILL, Eng. . . . Postmaster N. C. Parrott looked down his nose at the man with the gun trying to rob him of his postal receipts, sneered, "The revolver is not loaded, you know." "Sorry," said the crushed desperado, slinking away.

IN DURAND, Wis. . . . Frank Weimirski was forced to reassure his customers as to the fact that he still was in the popcorn and soft drink business after he began making deliveries with an old hearse.

BLUFFING:
In Berlin

Gen. H. H. Arnold, wartime commander-in-chief of the U. S. air forces, turned up in the news with a military man's hearty opinion about what to do with the Russians in Berlin.

"WHY NOT take a motor convoy and push it through the corridor to Berlin?" he suggested. "Perhaps we might have learned something from Gen. George Patton's technique. If Patton were running the show he would take it through."

Russia, he claimed, is attempting a tremendous bluff against the U. S. and the western allies, but is "not ready to fight, doesn't want to fight and won't fight" if someone should call her bluff.

WHAT would the Russians do if an armed convoy did plow through the blockade? "Not much, if anything," was Arnold's laconic estimate.

"It would be a grave and basic error to let the Communists bluff us out in the present deadlock in Germany.

"They are not ready to fight and they do not want to fight. We should curb the national tendency to be in awe of the Russians, an awe amounting almost to fear.

"TIME plays with the Russians. We have the superior power now. They may have it later. Meantime, it would be folly to let them bridge the gap by bluff alone."

Whether he was right or wrong, Hap Arnold at least had done the worrying U. S. public one favor: By reducing the problem to hard, simple terms of pure action and divorcing it from the intricate realm of diplomacy he made it appear more understandable, less overwhelming and less frightening. General Arnold, at least isn't expecting a war tomorrow.

TREATY:
On the Way?

In view of the existing physical and ideological rift which has divided the world into two opposing battalions, it has come to seem almost inevitable that the western bloc sooner or later would devise some kind of informal military treaty for the mutual protection of the nations concerned.

AND A few days before the election word began to creep out from among "high American sources" that a military treaty was on the way.

The report was that drafting was scheduled to begin soon of an agreement pledging full aid to the five-nation Brussels alliance of western Europe. Results of the U. S. election were in no way supposed to affect the plan, since both major parties had committed themselves in principle to backing the Brussels alliance.

SUCH AN alliance supposedly will link the United States and Canada in formal treaty relationships with Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

From a behind-the-scenes standpoint, this will not be a new move. It is highly probable, indeed, that the broad outlines of a north Atlantic pact — with some details sketched in—has been in existence for some time.

The alliance is expected to commit the U. S. and Canada to:

1. BUILD up air, land and sea forces of the Brussels powers.
2. STANDARDIZE equipment and training.
3. CREATE a seven-nation unified military strategic command under an American commander-in-chief.
4. PLEDGE a guarantee of each nation's territorial integrity in case of war.
5. GIVE the North American powers the right to establish air, land or sea bases in any of the five other countries.

U. S. officials expect that the treaty will be ready for ratification by the middle of 1949, barring extraordinary events. How congress will react to such a treaty is, for the time being, a debatable question.

SHIPBUILDING:
Navy Expands

Increasing importance in the minds of U. S. defense chiefs of underwater and air warfare, including consideration of possible attacks across the Arctic, was revealed in a statement outlining the navy's post-war shipbuilding program.

Vice Adm. Earle M. Mills, chief of the bureau of ships, listed the development of advanced prototypes in four major fields as the aim of the building and conversion plan:

"FIRST, aircraft carriers capable of handling the fast, heavy long-range naval planes developed and under development since the war; second, high-speed, deep-submergence submarines; third, anti-submarine vessels to combat these submarines; fourth, ships equipped for Polar and picket service."

Battleships were not mentioned in the statement, nor was there any direct reference to preparations against air attack over the roof of the globe, but the program's emphasis on polar ships was considered self-explanatory.

IN THIS phase of the program, two destroyer escorts and two submarines will be specially fitted for off-shore aircraft detection. One cargo ship and two floating drydocks for landing ships will be converted for service in polar waters.

The aircraft carrier part of the program includes the construction, to begin late this year or early in 1949, of the yet-unnamed supercarrier of 85,000 tons, designated as the CVA-58.

Conspicuous First

One of the minor sidelights of the late, great election was provided by Mrs. Fannie Rockwell of Danbury, Conn. She turned 104 years old on October 25 and celebrated this chronological attainment six days later, on November 2, by casting a vote for the first time in her life.

RED PRICES:
Going Up

America doesn't have a capitalistic monopoly on inflation. Russia is getting her share of that uncomfortable condition, too.

Here's what happened in Russia in August: Postal and telegraph rates were boosted 33⅓ per cent. Train fares and long distance phone call rates went up in varying amounts. In Moscow subway fares jumped 25 per cent and streetcar fares from 50 to 100 per cent.

GIVES RECIPE FOR LONG LIFE OF INLAID LINOLEUM

If you want your inlaid linoleum to have lasting looks and give long wear, give it gentle care. Too much water, strong soaps and harsh cleaning agents are the worst enemies of linoleum.

Homemakers will shorten the life of their linoleum by trying to keep it too clean advises Olevia Meyer, extension home management specialist at Michigan State college.

Best method of cleaning and protecting inlaid linoleum is to wash it with a mop or cloth wrung almost dry. Warm water and mild soap may safely be used for washing. It should be rinsed with clear warm water. After it has thoroughly dried give it two thin coats of paste wax and polish thoroughly.

A good way to apply paste wax is to put about one-half cup of wax in an old stocking of two thicknesses of cheese cloth. Rub the cloth over the surface of the linoleum. Enough wax will work through the cloth to coat the surface evenly.

Worn places can be renewed by washing and rewaxing the spot. From time to time it is well to wash the linoleum with a damp cloth or mop wrung from water. Liquid wax of the self-polishing type may be applied occasionally to renew the finish and add to its wearing quality, Don'ts for linoleum care listed by Miss Meyer include using too much water which rots linoleum and loosens the edges or coating it with plastic, varnish or shellac. Finishes make linoleum hard, brittle and discolored.

A school house was reported to have been struck by lightening; we've always heard that a school was enlightening.

To Dunk or Not To Dunk?

Dunking doughnuts is Sober Hopkins' favorite morning pastime ... and for a long time Ma Hopkins has been trying to break him of the habit. Feels it sets a bad example for the children.

So one morning she puts a heavy frosting of chocolate on the doughnuts ... figuring that will stop him. Sober thinks it over for a while and then: Dunk! Taste? Smile!! And Sober compliments the missus on the lovely mocha flavor!

I guess there'll always be two schools of thought: to dunk or not to dunk. But from where I sit, it's a matter of personal choice and taste—like some folks prefer beer to cider, ale to beer. And the less we criticize those differences of taste, the better.

In fact, Ma Hopkins got so curious about the flavor of chocolate-covered doughnuts dunked in coffee, that she tried it herself. Now—you've guessed it—she's a daily dunker, too!

Electric Fence May Kill; Safety Precautions Listed

Electric fences take their toll of human lives every year. Most victims are children. Also, many animals are killed. Listed below are some of the safety rules recommended by the National Safety council.

Do not use home-made fence controllers; they are not safe.

No fence should be energized from any electric source except through an approved controller, one that meets the safety standards of a recognized agency. It is important that the controller, is properly installed with good ground and lightning protection.

Do not tamper with the controller. If it needs servicing return it to the manufacturer or have repairs made by a factory-authorized representative.

Teach children not to tamper or play with an electric fence.

Avoid locating an electric fence where the charged wire and a good ground such as a pipe line, pump, stock tank, pond, irrigation ditch, or other normally wet ground can be contacted at the same time.

Identify electric fences, especially those near buildings, property lines, or roads with prominent signs.

Provide insulated gate grips for opening and closing ates.

Rained Out

AFTER a few words, mostly spoken by the young wife, her husband sprang to his feet.

'You've gone too far," he exclaimed, angrily. "This is our last quarrel. I'm going right out of your life."

"Oh, Henry, darling, where are you going?" she cried.

"Where I'll never trouble you again," he replied, as he started to open the door. "I'll find a place where wild adventure will wipe out the memories of this moment—perhaps in the jungle—or on the stormy seas . . . "

As he spoke he opened the door, then closed it again, and turned sternly to his wife.

"It's lucky for you it's raining," he said.

It's The Law

A piece of paper under the windshield wiper of a brand new convertible parked in a street read: "Attorney—am inside attending to business."

Below, very neatly written, was this comment: "Policeman — I'm outside attending to business" and on the door was a parking ticket!

THAT'LL HOLD 'IM!

Father: "Get up, John. When Abraham Lincoln was your age, do you know what he was doing?"

Son: "No, I don't. But I know what he was doing when he was your age."

River Pilot

"Don't worry sir," the captain reassured the nervous passenger. "I've been running boats on this river all my life and I know where every snag, rock and sandbar is."

Just then the boat shivered throughout its length from striking an underwater snag. "See there!" cried the captain triumphantly, "That's one of them now!"

Does a Better Job, Too

Friend: "Why did you shoot your husband?"

Young Wife: "We couldn't afford a divorce."

THERE'S A REASON

Mistress: "When you were hired, you told me one reason you were such a good maid was that you never got tired. This is the third afternoon I've come into the kitchen and found you asleep."

Maid: "Yes'm. That's how I never get tired!"

BASEBALL LOGIC

The team's leading batter had stepped up to the plate and soundly smacked the first ball for a two-bagger with three men on base. The husband, a rabid fan, turned to his wife in high glee and shouted, "Did you see him hit that ball?"

"Well, wasn't he supposed to?" coldly countered the lady.

Quick Service

As he paid his bill, the departing hotel guest turned and shouted to a bellhop: "Quick, Boy, dash up to 306 and see if I left my pajamas. I've got just five minutes to make my train."

Four minutes later the bellhop was back, all out of breath.

"Yes, sir," he gasped. "They're up there."

Whistle in the Dark

Then there was the rich old gentleman sitting in his wheelchair beside an open window as a slick chick walked by, displaying a comely figure.

"Quick, Jenkins," called the old gentleman to his valet. "Bring me my teeth, I want to whistle."

One at a Time

Juror: "Your honor, I beg to be excused from jury duty on the ground that I am deaf in one ear."

Judge: "That doesn't matter; we listen to only one side at a time."

Beautiful Scenery

Mountain Guide: "Don't go too near the edge of that precipice; it's dangerous. But if you do fall, remember to look to the left, you'll get a wonderful view."

Drive Carefully Please

With sloppy weather here autoists and pedestrians are both urged to be careful. Autoists are urged to drive carefully, particularly in the main district to avoid spattering pedestrians.

In crossing streets, pedestrians are asked to keep away from approaching cars at a reasonable distance.

A little judgment on the part of both driver and pedestrians will save clothing from becoming smeared.

"Just Right" Film Wanted To Pack "Bing" Cherries

Any manufacturer who can supply a plastic film that exactly meets the needs of the sweet cherry growers of the Northwest will find eager buyers, according to cherry packaging tests by U. S. department of agriculture scientists.

Films now on the market meet the various requirements, but no single film combines all the qualities needed.

The big deep-red Bing cherries come to Eastern markets and reach consumers from a week to two weeks after picking. When shippers load cherries they place up to a half a ton of solid carbon dioxide (dry ice) in the refrigerator car. This keeps renewing the supply of gas, but enough escapes so that the car rarely has more than a 10 per cent supply.

Cherries, like other fruits, respire (breathe). They use oxygen and give off carbon dioxide. Why not pack the cherries in a gas-tight package and make use of this natural supply of the gas? Under test, cherries in a really gas-tight plastic bag used up all the oxygen available and generated too much carbon dioxide and so got to market off flavor.

What is needed is a strong, transparent film that will allow considerable moisture to escape and some (but not much) transfer of carbon dioxide and outside air. The ideal film would retain just the right proportion of carbon dioxide and moisture for a period of a week or 10 days.

Home-Frozen Peas, Beans, Equal Commercial Quality

Home frozen peas and snap beans are as fine in flavor and color and as high in vitamin content as those frozen by more rapid commercial methods, says Miss Mable Doremus, extension foods and nutrition specialist.

Vegetables in pound packages require two hours to freeze solidly by commercial methods, and as much as eight hours in home freezers, yet tests made at the New York state experiment station show no difference in appetizing qualities and nutritive value after cooking.

Many folk have felt that the more rapid commercial freezing makes a better product. It has been suggested that foods should be commercially frozen and home freezers used for storage only. However, the New York station reports, the homemaker need not hesitate to use her home freezer for freezing vegetables at home.

Miss Doremus emphasizes the importance of speed in handling and cooling foods for home freezing. She cautions against packing a large number of unfrozen and therefore relatively warm packages closely in the freezer, since this can slow up freezing enough to start spoilage.

"Eye" With Supervision

There's a cold, calculating and synthetic "eye" that can see 1,000 feet. It's an "electric eye" which engineers have developed to see nearly four times as far as present equipment. It is not affected adversely by snow or rain, or outside light, and it has many uses. These engineers see applications of the "eye" in the automatic counting of automobiles on highways, operation of traffic signals upon approach of a vehicle, and the "fencing" in of restricted locations where introduers would be discovered and reported. The beam is broken by an object, and the relay sets into operation alarms, signals, counters and other electric equipment.

U. S. Flag Merchant Fleet

U. S. flag merchant fleet as of May 1, 1948, totaled 3,542 vessels of 1,000 gross tons and over, as against 3,577 vessels in the same category on April 1, 1948. Of the total fleet, 1,948 vessels were in active service: 1,084 privately owned, 833 government owned vessels under bareboat charter, 29 government-owned vessels under G.A.A., including nine C-4 "austerity" vessels temporarily in passenger service, and two Panama railroad vessels. Inactive vessels totaled 1,594 including 48 privately owned, temporarily inactive; 138 vessels inactive under G.A.A., 1,407 vessels in the reserve fleet and one Panama railroad vessel under repair.

Dawn Redwoods to Be Preserved

Steps to preserve the dawn redwoods of China, the "living botanical fossils" of the Valley of the Tiger, have been announced simultaneously in Nanking and at the University of California. Announcement by the Chinese government of a Metasequoia conservation committee composed of some of China's most eminent men was reported by Dr. Ralph W. Chaney, professor of paleontology, whose recent expedition stimulated the conservation movement. Prior to discovery by two Chinese scientists, the dawn redwoods were believed to have perished 20 million years ago.

How To Cook Asparagus

Asparagus should be cooked quickly in a small amount of boiling water until just tender, then served promptly. To prevent tips from overcooking, tie the asparagus stalks into bunches and stand them in boiling, salted water in the top of a double boiler. Cover and cook until the stems are just tender. Or, cook the asparagus in a regular pan by propping the tips up out of the water.

Famed Exhibition Shooter Bettered Score of Oakley

Annie Oakley, legendary sharpshooter, had an equal! The world-famous marksmanship of the woman whose steady trigger finger shot her to international renown was equalled by the late Elizabeth (Plinky) Toepperwein, outstanding exhibition shooter, according to E. B. Mann, in an article in The American Rifleman.

So thorough was the build-up given Annie that her reputation almost eclipsed all other women shooters.

Plinky, with her famous marksman-husband, Ad, held American audiences spellbound by feats of shotgun, rifle and revolver prowess in 40 years of barnstorming.

She was regarded as the greatest trapshooter of her time. On November 11, 1916, she established the still unchallenged woman's record in this field by smashing 1,952 of 2,000 16-yard clay targets in three hours, 15 minutes actual shooting time.

It was Ad Toepperwein, held by many experts to be the best marksman America has ever produced, who taught his wife to shoot. The day Plinky first saw him he was a quiet Texan visiting the Winchester Repeating Arms company in New Haven, Conn., where she was an ammunition maker.

Korea's Isle of Amazons Lives on Ocean Harvest

As shallow-sea divers for pearls, shellfish, edible seaweed, and various items of commerce, women of Oriental coasts for centuries have outdone the men.

Those of Cheju, 50 miles off Korea's southern tip, have been notably adept. An estimated 10,000 today live by harvesting ocean acres, while their men in some cases tend the children and prepare the meals, notes the National Geographic society.

From this feminine monopoly has grown the tradition of Cheju as an Amazon isle. It took positive form in the West about 1900 when a traveler brought back the tale that the island until 1850 had been populated solely by women and young children in storied Amazon style.

In the 1946 census, Cheju counted 276,148 inhabitants, virtually all on the coasts of the 45-by-20-mile oval of land. There were 113 women to each 100 men on Cheju in 1946, whereas on the Korean mainland men outnumbered women.

Cheju port on the north coast is the island's capital and chief center, counting 30,000 inhabitants. They live largely in crude, thatched-roof huts of mud and stone. Ancient walls to defend against pirate attack still stand along the shore.

Housewife Query on House Dresses

American Home Economics association recently conducted a survey of 15,000 women to see what they considered to be the necessary qualities in a house dress. The women questioned said that house dresses should be moderate in price, colorfast, controlled for shrinking or stretching, and constructed so as to prevent excessive raveling, and should have well made seams and hems, good stitching, good buttonholes, well secured and reinforced fastenings and pockets, securely attached trimmings, properly constructed collars, plackets and facings, and shoulder pads properly constructed and placed and secured firmly.

Run Washer by Clock

Most housewives know from experience that too short washing does not get clothes clean, but many do not realize the disadvantages of overlong washing. Running the machine too long adds unnecessary wear to clothes, wastes electricity, and, if the water is very soiled, may drive the soil into the fabric. The time table for machine washing suggested by the specialists is: two to three minutes for silks, rayons and synthetics; five to 10 minutes for slightly soiled cotton and linen; 10 to 15 minutes for very soiled cotton. If clothes are not clean in 15 minutes, they need hand rubbing of very soiled places or another washing in clean suds.

Rations for Brood Sow

Good care and management of the brood sow and her litter may mean the difference between a small check or a large one at market time. One of the important factors is proper feeding, including access to good pasture. A good practice is to give the sow little or no feed the day she farrows. Provide fresh drinking water; and her first feed should be a cooling feed such as ground oats or bran, says the Louisiana State university agricultural extension division. A good ration for brood sows consists of two-thirds corn and one-third ground oats by weight. To this should be added one-third pound of tankage or a half gallon to three quarts of skim milk per day.

More Cows Needed for Population

In 1870 there was an average of four persons per cow in the United States. In 1900, four and one-half persons were served by each cow. In 1920, each cow served five persons; and by 1940, 5.3 persons. The present figure is 5.8 persons per cow. The amazing thing is that in spite of the increased number of persons being served by each cow, the supply of milk products per capita has remained fairly stable. Production of milk per capita in 1947 was greater than the average for either the 1935-39 or 1925-29 periods.

A Clock Watcher

TRYING to rest after an exceedingly hard day, poor father was being bedeviled by an endless stream of unanswerable questions from little Willie.

"What do you do down at the office?" the youngster asked.

"Nothing," shouted the father.

It looked as if the boy had been shut up for a while, but not for long. After a thoughtful pause, Willie inquired: "Pop, how do you know when you're through?"

MEDICAL TERM

Checking the emergency cases of the day, the nurse gave a puzzled look after spotting the doctor's note: "Shot in the lumbar region." In the interest of clarity, she quickly changed the doctor's statement to read. "Shot in the woods."

It Requires Faith

Customer: "Waiter, I can't see any chicken in this soup."

Waiter: "Of course not. Did you ever see any horses in horse-radish?"

WRONG DIAGNOSIS

Doctor (to his daughter): "Did you tell the young man that I think he's no good?"

Daughter: "Yes, dad, but that didn't faze him. He said it wasn't the first wrong diagnosis you made."

Shirty Business

Son (learning the business): "Father, there's a man here who wants to know if these shirts shrink."

Father: "Does the shirt he tried on fit him?"

Son: "No, it's too big."

Father: "Then it shrinks."

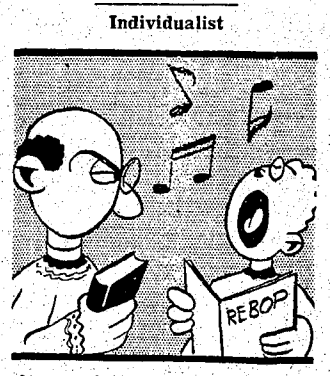

Makes Him Blind

"My boy friend hates the sight of liquor."

"Then why does he drink?"

"To get it out of sight."

Individualist

One Sunday morning a father met his four-year-old son, an ardent radio listener, just as he was coming out of Sunday school. The son was asked what the children had been doing. "Oh, they sang," he answered. "And what did they sing?" was the inquiry. "I don't know what they were singing," replied the lad, "but I sang 'One Meat Ball'."

Comforting Thought

"But why study philosophy? It doesn't make you any happier."

"No, but it enables me to be unhappy more intelligently."

Books Are Heavy

"How many studies are you carrying?"

"I'm carrying one and dragging four."

Open House

Mr. Smith: "My wife came from a large family. Did yours?"

Mr. Brown: "No, she brought it with her."

Wrong Customer

An old waiter at the club was giving the new hand a few hints.

"See that fellow who's just come in?" he whispered. "He's got a twin brother and they're as alike as two peas, only this one's hard of hearing. Watch the fun!"

Going to the member's side, he smiled politely and said, in an ordinary voice: "Well, pieface, and what do you want in the nose-bag today?"

"I'll have a chop," was the reply. "And, by the way, it's my brother who doesn't hear so well."

Disappointed

A SUBURBANITE sitting at his window one evening casually called to his wife: "There goes that woman Bill Jones is so terribly in love with."

His wife, in the kitchen, dropped a cup she was drying, hurtled through the door, knocked over a lamp, and craned her neck to look out the window.

"Where?" she panted.

"There," he pointed, "that woman, with the tweed coat, on the corner."

"You idiot," she hissed, "that's his wife."

"Yes, of course," he replied.

A Late Arrival

Young Angus McTavish was observing his birthday, and his father decided to celebrate the occasion by taking him for a trolley ride. Stepping in, he handed the conductor 15 cents for one full, one half fare.

The conductor seemed dubious. "How old is the boy?"

"Well, this is his twelfth birthday," admitted McTavish, "but he wasn't born until late afternoon."

SHIRT TALE

"Is this the laundry?" the irritated customer shouted into the telephone. "Well, you sent me a batch of very old handkerchiefs instead of my shirt."

"Them ain't handkerchiefs," replied the laundry, "that's your shirt."

PYROTECHNICS

Little Susie's hair cracked, as her mother was combing it.

"Why does it crack?" the child asked.

"Because it has electricity in it."

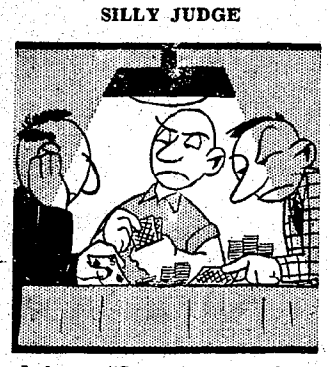

"Gee," ejaculated the modern little miss, "we're sure in the groove. I got electricity, Grandpa's got gas on his stomach, and Daddy's all lit . . ."

"Not another word, Susie!"

Food Digger

She's an after dinner speaker. Whenever she speaks to a man, she's after dinner.

Judge: "So you were playing poker?"

Gambler: "Yes, sir, but not for money."

Judge: "What were you playing for?"

Gambler: "For chips."

Judge: "But chips are the same as money. Ten dollars fine."

So the gambler paid in chips.

Forgetfulness

"Dear Clara," wrote the young man "pardon me, but I'm getting so forgetful. I proposed to you last night, but I've really forgotten whether you said 'yes' or 'no.'"

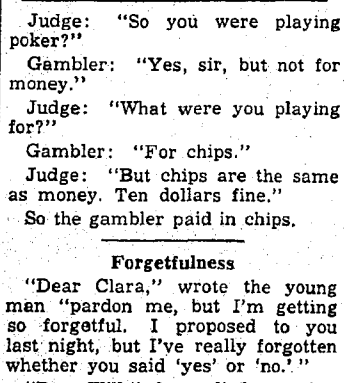

"Dear Will," she replied, "so glad to hear from you. I knew I said 'no' to somebody last night, but had forgotten who it was."

Double Threat

"I'd fire you in a minute," cried the angry manager, "if I thought I could get another man to fill your job."

"And I'd quit in a minute," sighed the weary bookkeeper, "if I was through with my night course in welding."

SPECIAL REQUEST

"Does your orchestra ever play requests?"

"Certainly. What would you like to have us play?"

"Pinochle!"

Dogs Can't Read

Highway Toll Hits New Peak In September

The highest monthly traffic toll this year in Michigan was registered in Sept., when 145 persons were killed, according to the monthly statistical report of the Michigan State Police.

The Sept. toll was 11 more than during the same month last year and an increase of 8 over the previous monthly high this year of 137, the record during Aug.

In addition, there were 3,543 persons injured and 10,728 accidents. These figures were almost exactly the same as for Sept. of 1947.

Twelve children ranging from 5 to 14 years of age--nine of them pedestrians and three bicyclists--were among those killed. This was six fewer than in Sept. of 1947 and the reduction is partly attributed to a statewide child safety emphasis program carried out during the month.

The record for the first nine months of this year shows 998 persons killed, 29,122 injured and 100,959 accidents. Compared with the same period last year, deaths decreased 27 or three per cent, injuries increased 1,840 or seven per cent, and reported accidents increased 3,572 or four per cent. Seven counties, Benzie, Leelanau, Missaukee, Montmorency, Newaygo, Oscoda and Otsego reported no deaths, 34 showed an increase, 38 a decrease and 11 had the same number.

Mileage for the first 8 months of this year showed an increase of 8 per cent over the same period last year, but the death rate of 7.8 per 100 million miles of travel was down 10 per cent.

Farmers May Expect Good Year in 1949

Every farmer likes to get the opinion of others when he is planning his next year's farm program. Michigan State college farm economists this week presented a brief outline of the prospects of 1949.

First, they say a strong demand for most farm products is expected in 1949. Farm product prices and cash receipts from farm marketings in 1949 may average about as high as in 1948. High farm production costs, however, are likely to cause a lower net income to farmers in 1949.

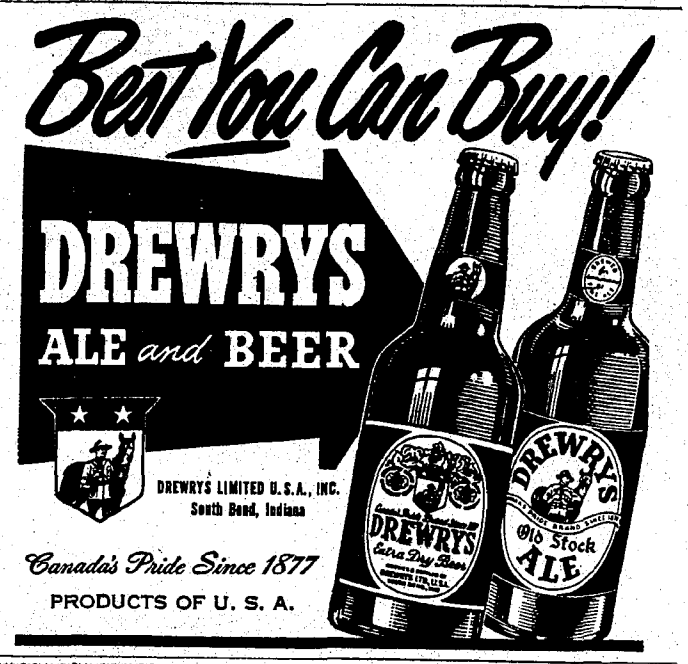

A number of favorable factors are in sight, say the farm economists. Consumer incomes will continue high in 1949 which means they will continue to be able to buy farmers' products. Private spending for construction of homes, factories, stores and public utilities will continue high and help maintain full employment.

Lower grain prices will mean more profitable livestock production for Michigan farmers. Farm price supports, too, will cushion most price declines with a 90 percent parity floor.

Of course there the a few things which tend to make the picture less bright. Marketing costs will be high. Transportation and wage costs are still going up. The farmer will get a smaller share of the consumer's dollar. But barring a radical change in our economy, the economists say Michigan farmers can expect a good year in 1949.
